READING 2

We have been asked to try and examine a new outlook, necessary if we are to reach a state of Cosmic Consciousness. This new outlook is in connection with the idea of Cosmozes, or worlds within worlds. Recently someone (Colin Lucas) has been trying to see this fundamental idea in a new way, making it come alive and filling it with a new significance. It is a beautiful example of the illumination and constructive thinking that come as a result of 'long thought' on a single idea of the System, and it can be connected with the diagram of different times given at the end of the last reading (61/13).

There is also a short paper, which some of you have read before, on Time in Different Cosmozes; this might be of interest again now.
